

Personal Conduct Commitment

Legacy Mission International exists to share Christ's Legacy with all those around us. It is important that each person serving on team have a personal relationship with Christ as their Lord and savior and understand that in everything they do while on a team should reflect Christ. If you have not accepted Christ as your personal Lord and Savior, you should speak to your Team Captain for approval to participate on a team.

To make your ministry an enriching experience, it is imperative that everyone respects Legacy Mission International polices and each other. Each team member needs to be willing and submit to the leadership role and authority of the Team Captain, Legacy Missionaries, and Legacy Staff, and promise to abide by his or her decisions as they concern this mission trip.

It is important that each team member read, understand, and agree to abide by the contact and policies within the Legacy Mission International Team Member's Manual. In addition, each team member refrain from any other behavior or activity that would hinder your ministry or the ministry of your team during the term of your service.

Each mission team/group has a designated Team Captains who is responsible for a team member's conduct during their stay. Each team member should have a direct reporting relationship to the Team Captain. The Team Captain is responsible to Legacy Mission International to insure ministry policies and directives are observed by all team members. In the extreme case that a team member would refuse to follow Legacy Mission International policies and directives, Legacy Mission International reserves the right to send him/her home at the expense of the individual or the sponsoring church/team.

Legacy Mission International missionary and/or staff will expect team members to comply with this conduct policy.
